Recommendations for academic departments and programs to participate and achieve Academic Affairs Strategic Plan Goal #5: "share results from ongoing assessments of student learning and program performance."

Potential Assessment and Data Sources for a Webpage

- Alumni success stories (solicit by email or social media)
- Comprehensive Program Review (CPR)
- Department strategic plan goals and achievement of those goals
- Faculty achievements
- National accreditations, memberships, or recognitions
- Program partnerships, research, and other engagement opportunities
- Professional accreditation self-studies
- Quality of incoming students (acceptance rates)
- Retention, progression, and graduation rates
- Student achievement data and evidence of a quality education (placement rates, licensure pass rates, awards, standardized test scores, thesis and dissertation completion rates)
- Student learning outcomes assessments results (extract from Institutional Effectiveness Reports)
- Student publications and presentations (Undergraduate Research Symposium or external conferences)
- Survey data (alumni, employer, student, advisory committee, other stakeholders, program exit survey)

Provide Context

- * Clearly craft a narrative describing student success in your program/department
- * Talk about what is going well and areas being worked on
- * Present data in a simple format that external readers (students and parents) can understand
- * Do not post an entire report; extract certain data points and provide an accompanying narrative
- * Present more than one year's data so stakeholders can see trends
